HISTORY CORNER

Early Emigration to Australia

While ferreting about in the S.R.O. researching early Suffolk emigrants to Australia, I came across letters written home by George Head, who, with his wife and young family, made the perilous trip in 1839. They had been living at Hollesley, barely making ends meet. The Government realised they couldn't build a successful colony in Australia using just convicts, as the last thing many of those wanted to do, was work. Australian farmers used agents who toured rural areas promoting assisted passages for working men who wanted to improve their lives. An agent working in Suffolk was Mr Noller of Debenham who was paid to arrange everything to do with the passage to Australia. The afore mentioned George Head, could read and write fluently and was just the type of person they were looking for. It is also possible that George had heard from friends who had previously made the trip, extoling the benefits of having an issue of free meat and flour on arrival.

George and his family left on a new horse-drawn omnibus owned by the "Albion" shipping company and travelled via Woodbridge and other villages to Ipswich, where they boarded the new steam driven vessel the Albion at the Quay. Early the next morning they sailed for London Bridge wharf where George and his family had their first taste of communal living which was totally alien to them. "We were struck with astonishment when we reached the top of the stairs to see a room where two or three hundred would sleep on beds as hard as stone. A sort of wide shelf ran all around the room with no dividing walls. We were thus all sleeping within sight of each other, but the light was so dim we saw little of our neighbours".

The next morning, they boarded "The Duchess of Northumberland", the ship that would convey them and more than 250 adults and children to Australia. George Head and his family had booked steerage, which was the cheapest class of travel and they were allocated small quarters in the main hold of the vessel. Their "stall," was 6 feet by 3 feet and was divided from others by a couple of planks. This contained George and his wife and their children's bunks plus a few possessions. Long tables with fixed seats ran down the centre of the accommodation. The family had to provide their own bedding, pots and cutlery. On Saturday 3rd August they sailed for Gravesend and started their voyage to Australia on 6th Aug 1839. To be continued , by Peter Driver

05 September 2018

Having very much enjoyed spending the summer at home in Suffolk, getting back to the grass roots of being a constituency MP, it's good to return to the daily business of Parliament. While Parliament is in recess, it presents an opportunity to consider the achievements of the previous few months. Across many areas of life, we've seen significant success. Working with fellow MPs, local councils and others, we've seen more money for schools, including capital investment for expansion. We've seen the continuing roll-out of superfast broadband. While for many this is still not a reality, and can't come soon enough, the rollout is proceeding at pace, and due to reach 98% of Suffolk by 2020. Beyond this, we have also secured the investment in highways infrastructure across the county, notably, in my constituency, money for the Brome junction on the A140 at Eye Airfield, enabling much-needed road improvement and safety work to be carried out.

Looking ahead, there remains much to do and much to campaign for, including greater investment in our roads and railways, not least our long-running campaign for a four-villages bypass along the A12 north of Ipswich. At the same time, I am continuing my part-time work as a hospital doctor, alongside my Parliamentary work and throughout recess periods - something which prevents me from being just a career politician and provides a very different perspective and experience to bring to my work in Parliament.

But, with September now upon us, the business of Parliament has returned and we resumed work in Westminster this week. Rest assured, I will be bringing all that experience and perspective to Parliament as we continue our debates and discussions on Brexit. Even as an MP, I am, like you I'm sure, getting fed up of hearing the word 'Brexit'. It has been a very traumatic process for everybody. Whatever happens next, you may be sure that my top priority in this, and all my work as an MP, is to put the Suffolk people first. The people who live and work in Central Suffolk and North Ipswich remain my principle focus and, on that front, please do get in touch with me if you need my help. For more information, please visit my website www.drdanielpoulter.com

From The Reverend Graham Hedger

Over the summer I had the opportunity to read some social history relating to the churches in this area. I always find it fascinating to find out what was going on; the issues that got people hot under the collar and also how different parishes were in the pastoral care of clergy. Times change and many of the things that seemed revolutionary at the time are now taken for granted.

One of the interesting things that I have found in my time in Suffolk, is how forward thinking the church can be. In the 1970s, Bishop Leslie Brown created the role of 'elder', a lay person with some basic training who could minister with clergy in pastoral work and taking services. It was seen as revolutionary. In this diocese we currently have around 500 elders working in parishes. In this benefice we have been fortunate to have many elders in the past and to be served by an excellent group of people at this time. I hope that the number will increase in the years to come. Many other dioceses, some 40 years on are now looking at such schemes. Bishop Martin recently ordained a large number of people who have been through a totally different pathway of training. Many had experienced a 'call' to ministry many years ago, but circumstances prevented them responding. Just another example of how innovation starts in Suffolk.

Over the coming months the church councils will be looking at what God is calling us, as individual parishes and as a group of churches to do. We are stronger together than as individual parishes. It is always a case of finding the appropriate way of developing ministry. There are many things that we do where it is appropriate to do them at parish level. However, there are other things where we are stronger doing them together. For instance, our elders work across the benefice, providing vital ministry. Also' the monthly benefice service with a choir and a slightly more formal liturgy offers us the opportunity to worship in a way that we can't do in separate parishes. Why not come and experience it?

It is my hope and prayer that building on all the good work in recent years we can continue to work together responding to the call of God, that we might minister effectively in an ever-changing situation.

Prayer- After the Benefice service in October at Hacheston, prayer will move to Hacheston from Friday October 5th.

Link- To- Hope Shoebox Appeal 2018

For all those of you that like to contribute a shoebox (or more!) this is just a reminder about items for boxes, which need to be ready by the end of October. The following items are suitable for a Family Shoebox: shampoo, shower gel, small toys, toothbrushes and paste, nail clippers, brush/comb, safety razors, simple calculator, hair accessories, soap/flannel, colouring books, writing pads, sweets, chocolate, sewing kit, candles, soft toys, screwdriver, tape measure, socks, tights. If you would like to contribute a box for an elderly person/couple, extra ideas include: plasters, tissues, reading glasses, lavender bag, pens, paper, small mirror. Leaflets to attach to the shoeboxes will be available at Kettleburgh coffee mornings, at the back of Kettleburgh Church and at Kettleburgh Harvest Supper. Your shoebox will go directly to people who are poor and marginalised in Eastern Europe. Link-to- Hope distributes shoeboxes through trusted partners in Romania, Moldova, Bulgaria and Ukraine. They go to families, the elderly and people who literally struggle to survive on a day to day basis. A simple gift of a shoebox shows love and care for people who would otherwise have very little hope. If you would like to know more about the appeal, contact Jackie Clark (723623) or take a look at the website: http://linktohope.co.uk/ There is a link on the Kettleburgh website (Church page).

In mid-November Jane Mitchell is travelling to Cambodia to undertake a charity cycling challenge. Jane is raising money for Art for Cure, a breast cancer charity. Breast cancer affects 1 in 8 women and some men and has impacted on many of us in one way or another. Art for Cure fund research as well as local initiatives to help families within Suffolk. You may see Jane out and about training, her longest ride to date is just 13 miles - she needs to get fit enough to cycle 47 miles a day for 6 days, quite a challenge! Jane is paying for the trip herself, from flights to meals, so every penny donated will go straight to Art for Cure.

Please take a moment to view Jane's "just giving" page on your computer, wwwjustgiving.com where you can also make a donation, Jane will need a lot of local support to reach her target of £2500.

Kettleburgh Harvest Festival

Harvest celebrations in Kettleburgh take place on Sunday 7th October. We begin with Harvest Thanksgiving, in church, at 5:30pm, when we will thank God for his goodness to us, offer symbolic gifts and sing our favourite harvest hymns. Our celebrations continue with an informal supper in the Village Hall at 6:45pm. Home-made soup, jacket potatoes with cheese and salads, and apple pie pudding. No need to book, but please bring your own drinks. Everyone is welcome to either or both.

Tickets from the Thursday coffee morning or from Cara Duffy 685655 or caraoleary@btinternet.com from the beginning of October.

What is Horkey? I hear you ask

The name horkey was applied to end of harvest customs and celebrations, especially in the Eastern Counties of England, although the word occurred elsewhere in England and also Ireland. Since it is found in dialect, there is no standard spelling and other versions include hawkie and hockey. Mentioned from the 16th century onward, the custom became less common during the course of the 19th century and was more or less extinct in the 20th. It is chiefly remembered now because of the poem dedicated to it by Robert Bloomfield in 1802. In the introduction to The Horkey, Robert Bloomfield sets the scene it goes on to describe: "In Suffolk husbandry, the man who goes foremost through the harvest with the scythe or the sickle is honoured with the title of 'Lord', and at the Horkey, or harvest home-feast, collects what he can for himself or brethren, from the farmers and visitors, to make a 'frolic' afterwards, called the 'largess spending'." Leaving the hall after the feast, they then shout "largess" so loudly that it is heard in all the farms around.

What's else is going on every week in OCTOBER?

News from the village green

Halloween -This year, we're going to try something different. We've done Hallowe'en on the Green for several years which has been a successful and well attended event but does require a lot of preparation and set up on the day, which if it's a work/school day can be a stressful rush. So we're doing trick or treating this year. We'll only visit properties who have agreed to participate. So if you want to be visited by a bunch of little ghosts and witches (and their responsible adults), let us know or put a lit pumpkin outside your house. If you'd like to take part, we'll be meeting on the green, at the picnic bench by the Church Road gate at 6pm on Wednesday 31st October. Bring a torch and something for collecting treats.

Jobs around The Green-There are quite a few odd jobs needed around the green. The fence by the pond is in need of repair and the messy bed by the Church Road gate needs digging over as we have decided to seed with grass and plant a few trees. If you or someone you know would be willing to do these jobs for an agreed hourly or flat rate, then we're willing pay. Otherwise we shall have to go to a local contractor. Email kgtchair@wheeler-rowe.com or message us on Facebook if you can help.

A reminder-The Kettleburgh Green Trust, a registered charity, looks after the green. It is managed and run by just three people, Caroline Wheeler-Rowe, Heidi Finbow and Hannah Barton. We all have jobs and families so any work for the trust is squeezed into our busy days. All the money we need to keep the green looking great is raised from donations and fund raising as we don't get any money from local government. You can help by supporting our fund raising events such the village breakfast, filling our money boxes with coins, joining the KGT lottery or signing up to easyfundraising.org.uk/kgt

Kettleburgh Village Produce Show Report

It may have been a difficult year for gardeners, and there were fewer vegetable entries but there was still plenty to see on show day. The fruit, photography and craft classes were well supported and there was a splendid number of entries in the cookery section. These, along with some lovely flowers and plants ensured we still had a show to be proud of. I'm glad I don't get involved in the judging, this year the domestic judge had to taste almost 80 items! To those who entered, thank you for your support. If you didn't enter this year, please do have a go next time.

Congratulations to the cup winners: Peter Driver, Val Butcher, Claire Norman, Jackie Clark, Tracy Wingfield and Val Smerdon. We are already looking ahead to next year and talking about some different classes. If you have any ideas please let us know, we really would like to hear from you.

A huge THANK YOU to everyone who moved tables, set up the hall, worked as a steward, ran the teas, raffle, or auction or helped in any way with the administration and running of the show. It's very happy show with just a little friendly rivalry. If you would like to help in future please let myself, Jackie Clark or Tracy Wingfield know.
